So, I have a table with an auto_increament field, which says that the id field is autoincrementing and I also have a field named "id" in the table, but I know it should be a varchar, but for some reason it keeps complaining that id is already defined to be a autoincrement... Any ideas what is going on here? A: If you have a mysql (or any other database engine) error that says "Id is defined as auto-increment..." you have some luck
